STUDEBAKER

"When you're in a racing car at speed, keep your mouth tight shut." This is the advice given by "Fighting Bob" Evans of the Studebaker team, whose success this year have stamped him as the brightest star of the light-car pilots. And it is advice which will be endorsed by every experienced race driver.

"Keep your mouth shut," continues Evans, "because you will want to breathe now and then."

"Opening the mouth makes inhaling easy, it is true. But the extreme speed of a motor car will keep you inhaling for a long time after you want to stop, if you try to do it through the mouth. The pressure will cram your lungs, mouth and air passages so full of air that you will choke and strangle."

"We had a Studebaker-Flanders out one morning this spring on the Santa Monica course for practice. The wind was blowing fifty miles an hour, according to the weather reports. On one straightway we fed it squarely. The gale pulled us down to a speed of 75 miles an hour where, on calm days, we had been doing 85. But 75 added to 50 the speed of the gale—gave us a headwind of 125 miles an hour. Some wind? Why the roar in my ears made them ring for days afterward. The pressure on my shoulders was greater than two men could have exerted. My cheeks pushed back on both sides so that my lips hurt."

"Charley Bamesburger, my mechanic, leaned over toward me and started to say something. The next moment he doubled up and nearly fell out. I thought he was sick and stopped the car as soon as I could. When he got through choking and coughing, he said he'd been through all the torture of drowning."

"He'd started to make some remark about the weather, I guess, and the pressure of the wind had simply inflated him almost to the bursting point. He tried to gasp it out and got more air jammed down his throat. He was frank to admit that I saved his life by stopping when I did."

"Of course, that was worse than one usually gets. All the same you will notice that the only time in a big road race when the driver and mechanic of a car do any talking, is on the turns, when the car is slowed down. At anything more than seventy miles an hour a man takes chances when he opens his mouth. Above ninety miles an hour the result is sure to be serious."

Nominee of Ohio Republicans Retires

COLUMBUS, O., July 28.—Inability to reconcile the factions of the Republican party in the State was given by Common Pleas Judge E. B. Dillion of Columbus, Republican nominee for the governorship in a public statement in which he said he would decline the nomination. He said he would present his withdrawal to the Republican State Central Committee, which will meet here Wednesday.

Judge Dillion telegraphed the following from Mackinac Island, where he is spending the summer:

"My written declination, placed in the hands of Chairman Burton, was not read to the convention and I accepted the nomination in the full presumption and belief that my acceptance would mean a united party and a single ticket in Ohio.

"All endeavor in that behalf has failed despite the kindly offices of my friends in each following of the party."

"The measure of justice due me, even though a mere individual, requires my resignation as the nominee for Governor and the same will be presented to the State Central Committee at its next meeting Wednesday."

The committee is empowered to fill the vacancy. It was reported today, however, that the committeemen may decide to call the convention together again to name a candidate.

Judge Dillion's determination not to accept the nomination, it is believed, was reached last week after a conference in Toledo with Walter Brown, Chairman of the State Central Committee, and former manager of Colonel Roosevelt's campaign in the State.

Harry M. Daugherty of Columbus, and Warren G. Harding of Marion, were mentioned today as possible nominees.

PROGRESSIVE PARTY

Bull Moose Meeting in Knox County

The Roosevelt followers met in this city last Saturday and affected a temporary organization with County Judge J. T. Stamper as chairman and W. W. Sawyer as secretary. Resolutions were adopted condemning the nomination of President Taft and delegates were elected to attend the District Convention at Corbin and instructed to vote for Roosevelt for President on the Progressive ticket, and to also nominate a candidate for Congress and Judge of the Court of Appeals on the Progressive ticket.

No permanent county chairman was elected nor was the organization perfected. The resolutions committee consisted of the following: B. B. Golden, George F. Tinsley, W. R. Lay, Zeke Wyrick and John H. Davis.

Deadly Soap

BOSTON.—In a warning against soap as a carrier of virulent germs and a menace to the public health, Dr. John J. Mullooney, of the Boston Board of Health, said Sunday: "I believe that common soap, particularly the sort of soap that is used for the washing of utensils which are food containers, is a carrier of microbe organisms which are a menace to health."

"No animal soap should be used in cleaning milk cans or other receptacles for food."

"In my experience in the west, where much of the soap used in America is made, I found that all of the diseased animals which were condemned by the Government inspectors in the big packing houses were used in the manufacture of soap, which is a by-product of the meat industry."

"There is danger in the indiscriminate use of toilet soaps in public places. It is true that members of a family as well as the employees of large establishments accumulate a remarkable collection of microbe organisms in their various occupations and transmit them to the lone bar of soap and thence to those who use it subsequently."

To Change School Capital

The Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Auditor are making estimates on the amount of money that will accrue to the school fund this year with a view to fixing the per capita for the schools. The per capita last year was $4, but this was a little too high, as it left a deficit in the school fund of last year of $86,000. For this reason there may be a slight reduction in the per capita this year, but it will be very small if any. The per capita will be fixed this week.

Byrley-McLemore

Miss Willia Byrley, daughter of W. W. Byrley, a prominent citizen of this city surprised her parents and friends last Sunday when she eloped to Cumberland Gap and was married to Mr. W. J. McLemore of Laurel County. She pretended to be going on a visit to relatives at Pineville and spent Saturday night with her aunt Mrs. H. C. Cole in this city, and on Sunday morning accompanied by Miss Maude Cole, caught the early train where she was joined by her fiancé and went on to Cumberland Gap, and were married by Squire Carr. They returned Sunday morning and Miss Maude Cole stopped off here and the happy couple went on to his home in Laurel County where they will make their home.

Claude Allen Convicted Again

Claude Allen, one of the Hillsville, Va., outlaws, was convicted of murder in the first degree for killing Commonwealth's Attorney William H. Foster. At a former trial he was found guilty of murder in the second degree for killing Judge Thornton L. Massie.

Claude Allen is the second scion of the Allen clan to be convicted of first degree murder, his father, Floyd Allen, being the other. When he learned he must pay the penalty for his crime in the electric chair, the prisoner broke down and wept bitterly, as did also his fiancé, who was with him in the court room.

Harry Thaw Still Insane

Harry K. Thaw, in the eyes of the law, is still insane and must remain in the asylum where he was placed on Feb. 1, 1908, after he had killed Stanford White.

Justice Martin J. Koehg of the Supreme Court last week denied Thaw's application for freedom.

The court took the ground that Thaw's release would be dangerous to public safety.

SHOULD BUY THE MORTGAGE

Wise Advice of Bill Jones to Friend Who Was Seeking Good Investment.

Bill Jones was a resident of Baltimore, who, notwithstanding an impediment in his speech, prospered in his business as a broker. He moved to New York city and prospered even more. A friend from Baltimore called on him one day, and, after some familiar conversation, remarked:

"I say, Bill, it seems to me that you stutter worse here in New York than you did in Baltimore."

"V-v-very l-l-likely; it's a b-b-bigger city."

"But I say, Bill, you have made a lot of money here and I want your advice. I have sold almost everything I had in Baltimore and I have the cash in my pocket. I want you to tell me how to invest my money to the best advantage. I have even mortgaged my house and have the money here. What would you advise me to buy for a good, safe investment?"

"B-b-buy the m-m-mortgage," replied Bill.—Harper's Magazine.

TELEPHONE FOR THE MUTES

Curious Electrical Device That Enables Them to Communicate Rapidly at a Distance.

A curious electrical device called a "deaf-mutes' telephone" has been invented to enable those who cannot speak and hear to communicate rapidly, not only with each other, but with persons who can speak and hear and are not conversant with the finger-sign language, says the Popular Mechanics Magazine, in an illustrated article.

"The phone" comprises an electrical keyboard, somewhat like that of a typewriter. It has, like a typewriter, the "universal system" arrangement of letters. This keyboard is connected by wire with an electric signal board which is the "talking machine" proper and consists of thirty-six incandescent light globes, each with a large letter of the alphabet or one of the nine numerals painted on the end of the bulb.

The person who wishes to talk presses the keys, spelling out the words as on a typewriter, the other person reading off the letters as they flash on the lamps.

TREATMENT OF FLESH WOUND

Method of Value to Every Owner of Stock Is Given by Prof. G. H. Glover of Massachusetts.

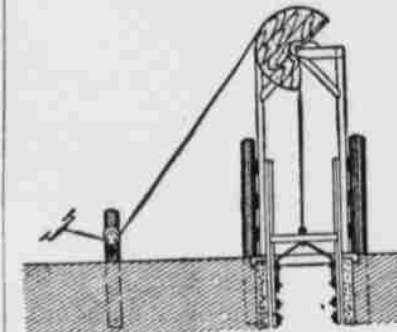

The following treatment of flesh wounds by Prof. G. H. Glover of Massachusetts is of value to every owner of stock, as he is a recognized authority. The ordinary wound will heal if not interfered with. This interference may be from germs, parasites meddling with the wound, on the part of man or the animal itself. The best thing to do, of course, would be to stop the hemorrhage. This can be accomplished by a tight bandage of clean, white muslin applied either over the wound or above it. A thread may be run under the artery by using a needle and tied. Do not use flour, dirt, cowbats or anything of that sort on the wound; they are unnecessary and may produce dangerous infection. Having checked the bleeding remove the clots of blood and cut off the ragged edges of tissue with clean shears. A pan of antiseptic solution should be provided, and one of the best antiseptics on the farm is creolin. Add a teaspoonful of this to a pint of water that has been boiled and use it on the wound two or three times a day. Place the knife, shears, etc., in this solution and wash the hands before beginning to dress the wound.

See that there is good drainage from the wound and do not tie the wound up with covering of any kind. In about one week it may be well to change to dry dressing. In the meantime it will be well to get in communication with some skilled veterinarian who will advise you in the case from time to time. I do not mention sewing up the wound for the reason that in ragged cuts it is better not to do so. Remember that the principal thing is to get the wound healthy at the start and then it will heal with very little interference.

OPERATE CAGE DIPPING VAT

Crate Is Raised and Lowered by Use of Team of Horses—Illustration Explains Itself.

One of your readers desires information as to how to operate the cage in the dipping vat I recently described in your columns, writes L. W. Chase of the University of Nebraska in the Breeder's Gazette.

Cage Dipping Vat.

The accompanying illustration will make it clear. The crate is raised and lowered by hitching a good horse or team to a rope which passes from the top of the drum down through an auxiliary pulley and from there to the clevis for the singletree or double-tree. The auxiliary pulley can be the regular floor pulley for the hay fork rope. After the rope passes through the pulley the team may travel in any convenient direction.

Buy Feed or Sell Pigs?

A good many are asking what they are to feed their pigs, this season, with corn at 80 cents a bushel and middlings $1.75 per cwt. and prospects of going still higher. For the man who has pigs and no feed, we think it would be about the most reasonable thing for him to sell his pigs to some man who has feed, and save himself the drudgery of carrying the food to them and the risk of losing good money in the process. It is the opinion of the writer that even with pork abnormally high, there is no money to be made just now by feeding hogs on a ration that must all be purchased at current prices.

LIVE STOCK NOISES

Cooking food for animals seldom pays.

The stallion should show lots of masculinity.

One hundred acres will carry forty head of live stock.

Shear the sheep before their wool gets to be a burden.

If you haven't a hog house, prepare to build one next fall.

You can't be too particular in picking sires for your herds.

Many stallions are used too much to produce a large per cent of colts.

Horses, cattle, hogs and chickens are dirty if they are not handled in an intelligent manner.

The Ohio experiment station has found that rape is one of the very best forage crops for hogs.

Sell your wool on a rising market.

Nine times out of ten you will miss it if you try to keep it for something better.

Pigs fed on dirty, musty floors, are apt to contract lung trouble through inhaling dust, chaff and other clogging material.

Dock every lamb, ewes when they are from eight to fourteen days old, and ram lambs from five to seven days after castration.

People with a prejudice against sheep claim they are dirty. This is quite true if they are handled in such a way that they cannot help it.
